vessels, with over 200 craft being constructed up to the present time (1900).

She is a sea-kindly, round-bilge, stable, easily driven hull with a range of layouts to suit most applications, and the capability of a sealed self draining deck. The craft is available to any stage of completion from a bare hull shell, partly fitted out, or completed to an owners exact specification.

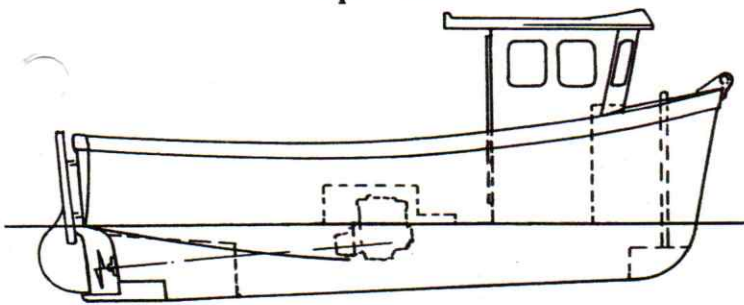

The GM21 is built in a clean and controlled environment, to the highest marine standards, by a dedicated and experienced workforce, who now have well over 1,500 craft to their credit, in action around the world, from the Arctic to the Antarctic Ocean.
